

Nadia Pagé

DMV, MSc, Diplomate ACVD | Quebec

Dr. Pagé received her degree from the Faculty of Veterinary Medicine of the Université de Montréal in 1992. She thereafter completed a Master's degree. In 2000, having completed a residency in veterinary dermatology, she obtained her diplomate status from the American College of Veterinary Dermatology. Between 1994 and 2002, Dr. Pagé worked as a clinician at the dermatology service of the Faculty of Veterinary Medicine of the Université de Montréal, contributing to clinical education of last year students. She is currently working full time at the DMV Veterinary Center since 2002. Her special interests include otitis and infectious cutaneous diseases.